THE WONDER WORKS STORY

WonderWorks began as a top-secret laboratory in the Bermuda Triangle where scientists worked on harnessing the power of a man-made tornado. One day, an accident caused an explosion, launching the laboratory to the tip of the earth’s atmosphere. Gravity forced the lab back down to the ground where it landed upside down at Broadway at the Beach! The building remained intact, waiting for the next scientist to explore. Enter with caution, as sometimes it is hard to tell whether you are right-side up or upside down.
