ORLANDO, Fla. - (March 17, 2025) – WonderWorks Orlando is a popular year-round destination for families, individuals, and groups. Spring is a great time to get active and learn something new, so WonderWorks is elevating their experience by shining a spotlight on education with ticket deals, group offerings, and special events in the coming months. Fun, hands-on activities are taking center stage, and WonderWorks Orlando is gearing up to provide plenty of educational fun.

“Going on a field trip to WonderWorks is a tradition for many Central Florida students,” said Davianys Ramos, education sales manager at WonderWorks Orlando. “Many of our team members visited WonderWorks when they were kids, so we're all thrilled to welcome the next generation of scientists and leaders into our lab!”

There are plenty of fun learning opportunities taking place this spring at WonderWorks Orlando, including:

- Field Trips - It's not too late for teachers to plan a fun, educational field trip to the attraction, which can be done online. Numerous school groups will be welcomed into the upside-down house this spring, giving students a hands-on experience that is fun and educational. Students will get a chance to explore topics that they are learning about in the classroom, and they'll have a great time while doing it.
- College Days - All college students will want to visit during March and April 2025, as they can snag an All Access WonderWorks ticket for only $22, plus tax. The ticket will give them the golden opportunity to explore all the attraction's exhibits, take a break from the stress of wrapping up the semester, and create lasting memories with their friends. To have even more fun, they can opt for a additional ticket that is $26, plus tax, to experience The Outta Control Magic Comedy Dinner Show, including dinner and a show. Students will need to show their college ID at the door to purchase these exclusive tickets.
- National Library Week - Those who don't have a library card can register for their first one at a participating Orange County Public Library during National Library Week and get a free ticket to WonderWorks Orlando when they do so. National Library Week takes place from April 6-12, 2025. Check with the Orange County Public Library system to see which branches are participating. The library will provide the free ticket upon signing up, which will need to be presented when visiting WonderWorks along with the new library card. This is a great opportunity to support your local library and dive into the wonders of reading!

- Teacher Appreciation Days - The popular Teacher Appreciation Days event will return in May 2025 with a great deal for educators and support staff. All education system employees should watch for details and registration information to be announced soon.

You'll want to head inside when those Florida temperatures rise or when a rainy April day rolls in, so come down to International Drive to see us in the upside-down house!
